WORKS — TYPE OF WORKS THAT QUALIFY

The scheme is targeted at small-scale works where the costs fall under €5,000. There are other conservation grant schemes for medium-sized or large-scale repairs. The types of work that would be eligible for the Stitch In Time Grant would be minor repairs to the original or historic physical fabric of the building where these follow best conservation practice of repair using appropriate materials, matching like-for-like. Also, works that help protect or extend the lifespan of the historic material can be funded or those that support a traditional building craft/skill such as thatching, stonemasonry or stained-glass artistry. Examples of works that would be eligible include:

- Blue stoning of thatched roofs

- Repair of stone gate piers or boundary walls
- Minor historic door or windows repairs, including repair of window surrounds, doorways, historic timber shop or pub fronts.
- Repairs to internal decorative features such as plasterwork, fireplaces, staircases.

In certain circumstances the re-instatement of a feature that had previously been removed may be eligible but photographic or documentary evidence would have to be provided for this to be considered.

REPORTS—CONSERVATION ADVICE/SURVEYS

For requests for funding for conservation advice and reports applicants must select an experienced conservation professional with proven and appropriate conservation expertise to produce the conservation report, survey, method statement and/or specification. The documents should conclude with recommended conservation measures, with prioritisation for the outlined works. The professions of architects, surveyors and engineers operate conservation accreditation registers which can be found on the websites of RIAI, SCSi and Engineers Ireland. For other conservation professionals a statement of their relevant conservation qualifications and demonstrated conservation experience must be provided with the application. The proven experience of the conservation professional in an integral part of the assessment of the application.

To accompany the application:

- Details of the conservation professions accreditation or statement of conservation qualification and demonstrated conservation experience.
- An outline by the conservation professional of the content of the proposed report should be provided with the application form. (For guidance on what should be contained in such a report see Historic England direction on Conservation Report Structure <https://historicengland.org.uk/content/do cs/advice/conservation-reports-structuremar18pdf/>)

On completion of survey/assessment

- Copy of the Final Report needs to be submitted to Fingal County Council's Conservation Office as evidence before the grant can be paid. It is recommended that when the initial draft of the report is produced that the Conservation Professional consult with Fingal's Conservation Office so that any comments can be considered prior to finalisation of the report.
- The Final Report should conclude with recommended conservation measures or works. These should be prioritised based on significance and urgency.

GRANT AMOUNTS

Grants of 50% to max 80% of the total cost of the eligible works may be awarded. Please note that payments of the grant will be by electronic transfer only and so successful applicants will need to provide the Council with bank details to facilitate this.
